Starting a school radio station

School radio station

A rich arts benefactor (sponsor/supporter), Mr V. Rich, has said that he will donate sufficient funds to your school to set up a school radio station. However, before he makes the donation, he wants to see how the radio station will be run, what sort of management there will be and how you will solve problems associated with the running of the station.

Part One: The management plan

The first thing Mr V. Rich wants to see is a management plan. He wants to see how you will run the station, who will run it, how you will spend the funds and what your general airtime policy will be.

Work in groups of four to draw up a management plan.

Present your management plan to the class, as if Mr V. Rich was present.

[48 marks]

Part Two: The programme schedule

Mr V. Rich was impressed with your management plan. He now wants to see a planned programme schedule of broadcasts for a week. He wants to be sure that the general broadcasts do not interfere with classes, but that provision has been made for teachers who want to use the station facilities for teaching.

Draw up your programme schedule for a week. Include the different presenters, themes of the different time slots, and a play list. Remember to show time slots when school classes are being held and put forward creative ways for teachers to use this time.

Part Three: The launch of the radio station

Mr V. Rich has given you the necessary funding and the radio station has been installed!

You must plan a grand launch for the radio station.

Which local artists will you invite to your launch? How will you publicise the event? What will happen at the launch?

Put together a launch plan.

Part Four: A letter to the parents

Your radio station has been broadcasting for two months. It is successful and the learners at your school are very happy. However, the parents are beginning to complain that the learners stay after school to listen to the broadcasts and they do not do their homework and complete their studies and chores in the afternoon.

What are you going to do about this problem?

Discuss solutions with your group.

When you have reached some solutions, write a letter to the parents explaining what you, the radio station management, plan to do.

Part Five: A logo for the radio station

Your radio station is now very successful. You need a logo and a name!

Design a logo that represents all your radio station stands for.

The logo and name must be in full colour, on an A4 sheet. You may use any media you prefer for the artwork. You must then mount the A4 sheet on another backing board for presentation.

In your design brief, make sure that you explain any symbolism, colour choice etc in your logo and name.
